The Ministry of Basic and Senior Secondary Education has signed a landmark Memorandum of Understanding with development partners to strengthen Sierra Leone's National School Feeding Programme.

Under the agreement, 27,369 bags of rice will be distributed to support pupils across the country.

The support includes 20,369 bags donated by the Government of China and 7,000 bags from ECOWAS.

Distribution will be coordinated through key partners including Plan International, Women United for Progress, and the World Food Programme. Strong monitoring mechanisms involving civil society, the Anti-Corruption Commission, and the Fourth Estate will ensure transparency and accountability.

Government Strengthens WASSCE Registration Integrity

The Ministry has intensified measures to ensure transparency and accuracy in the registration of candidates for the 2026 West African Senior School Certificate Examination (WASSCE).

Following verification exercises, 140,000 candidates have been cleared to sit the examination. Schools initially uploaded 219,000 names, prompting a nationwide verification process to ensure only eligible candidates are registered.

Government has reaffirmed its commitment to pay examination fees for all legitimate candidates, but school leaders must confirm through a signed undertaking to prevent malpractice such as multiple registrations.

These measures aim to safeguard public resources and maintain the integrity of the national examination system.

The Ministry recently welcomed a high-level delegation from the Global Partnership for Education (GPE), alongside representatives from the British High Commission and UNICEF Sierra Leone.

The visit marked the first in-person GPE mission since 2019, signalling strong international confidence in Sierra Leone's education reform journey.

Discussions focused on sustainable education financing, learning outcomes, and system-wide transformation. Sierra Leone's Partnership Compact, launched in 2022, continues to be recognised globally as a model for collaborative reform.

Notably, Sierra Leone has become the first country to meet both top-up triggers under the Compact, demonstrating strong progress in budget execution and teacher allocation reforms.

The return of our global partners reflects growing confidence in Sierra Leone's reform journey and our collective determination to strengthen education for every learner.

Strengthening Accountability in the School Feeding Programme

The Ministry has reinforced accountability mechanisms in the national school feeding programme following an engagement with the World Food Programme (WFP).

Discussions focused on improving food quality standards, supply timelines, and digital monitoring tools to track deliveries and beneficiaries in real time.

School feeding continues to play a critical role in improving attendance, retention, and learning outcomes, particularly in underserved communities.

Beyond immediate improvements in food delivery, the Ministry is also working to strengthen long-term sustainability within the programme. By integrating digital tracking systems, improving supply chain monitoring, and reinforcing accountability at district and school levels, the government aims to ensure that resources are used efficiently and transparently. These reforms are designed not only to safeguard public trust but also to ensure that every meal served contributes to improved attendance, stronger concentration in classrooms, and better learning outcomes for pupils across Sierra Leone.
